

-How many of you keep a schedule? If so, what gets included in your schedule, and how impressive is your schedule? (Is it color-coordinated with 15 colors and 5 fonts, or is it as simple as simple gets?)

-What is one thing on your schedule that is incredibly life-giving? What about one thing that is overwhelmingly draining? (School doesn't count as an answer, everyone has to go to school!)

-Would you say that the time you give God is based on your schedule or in all things you do? Elaborate.

-Why is God worthy of our time?

-1 Thessalonians 5:17 says "Pray continually". What does it mean to pray continually in our everyday lives?

-Matthew 6:33 says "Seek first his kingdom and his righteousness...". What would that look like if you sought God's kingdom and God's righteousness first?

-What would be the things that either need to be given less time or be thrown out in your life in order to seek his kingdom and his righteousness?

-Is there anything on your schedule that needs to be given more time in order to seek his kingdom and his righteousness?

-The main point today was "your time is both desired and required". What do they mean by desired? What do they mean by required?

-How does understanding that our time is both desired and required by God change your life? What are you personally going to do to not just fit God in wherever you can, but make him First in your life?

-Possible Applications

-As a group, let's commit ourselves to work through the "Your Journey" devotionals that we have not been great about doing. We can do this!

-As a group, let's dream about what it could look like to serve together. We'll talk about this next week, so this week think of an idea and let's make it happen! (life group leader encouraged to meet with student pastor if necessary).

-Let's take 10 minutes as a group and break up into groups of 2 or 3 and spend time praying together. Take a moment to share what you could use prayer for and let's give God time right now!
